NEW DRAPES INSTALLED; BILL ROBERTS JUBILANT

One More Improvement Added to State Theatre by Management

Perhaps you have noticed the satisfied expression that decorates the physiogomy of Manager "Bill" Roberts of the State theatre the past week. Bill has been smiling like a "chessy cat" ever since last Sunday night.

The reason is the fruition of Bill's dreams of two years to have a set of drapes installed in the rear of the theatre. George Mann, owner of the theatre, yielded at last to Mr. Roberts' importunities and the drapes were hung last Sunday by L. Bass, an artist in that line, from San Francisco. And, while a perfectly "spiffy" set of drapes could have been had second hand, Mr. Mann sent up brand new ones, thus adding so much more to Mr. Roberts' jubilation.

The drapes add a great deal to the beauty of the interior and to the comfort of patrons as well, shutting off drafts from the rear of the auditorium.

Chalk one more credit to George Mann's account.

OFF FOR VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Yates left Thursday for San Francisco and other bay points to enjoy a rest and a well-earned two-weeks' vacation.

Harmony and courtesy prevailed, and it is believed that a satisfactory adjustment will be reached when the committees get to work.

To Open Football Season With Game Here Saturday

Ukiah High School to Try Conclusions With Fort Bragg, Old Rivals

The first football game of the season will be played on the athletic field of the high school tomorrow afternoon. The game is one of a series to be played with Fort Bragg, and the only one of this series scheduled for Ukiah.

Unusual interest in the team and the games scheduled is being manifested not alone in the school but in the community in general. The present team is the heaviest this high school can boast of in years and anticipation of victories has created great enthusiasm.

W. L. Bradshaw, the new coach, has rounded the team into excellent shape in the short period since the opening of school. Bradshaw is a Stanford man and the first coach in this community from that college. His work with the team is attracting much attention. Those who have followed his instruction predict that he will turn out the best team that Ukiah has ever had.

W. S. Palmer, president of the Northwestern Pacific railroad, and M. L. Gillogly, general freight and passenger agent, will be in Ukiah in the near future, according to a letter received this week at Ukiah chamber of commerce.

These officials are coming on the urgent request of the chamber of commerce toward the end that a new depot may be secured by Ukiah. Mr. Palmer and Mr. Gillogly will meet with the town trustees, the city attorney, the directors of the chamber of commerce and others and the question of a new depot will be thoroughly gone over.

The chamber of commerce has been strongly urging definite action regarding a new depot. The railroad officials in response to the appeal of the chamber of commerce have replied that they are glad to meet with the proper officials and to try to work out the problem.

MRS. P. CONNOLLY TAKEN IN DEATH LAST TUESDAY

Mrs. P. Connolly passed away last Friday night at the family home in this city. While she had been in poor health for some time past, her condition recently had been rather encouraging. She was seized with a sudden attack of illness late in the evening and her death occurred near midnight, about two hours later. Mr. Connolly and their daughter, Marguerite, were absent in San Francisco at the time and Mrs. Connolly was being attended by Mrs. Cox. Word was sent to the absent ones as soon as she became ill, and they hurried home, arriving at an early hour Friday morning.

Mrs. Connolly was a daughter of the late Dennis Hurley and wife, pioneer settlers of the Cuffeys Cove section of this county, and had lived in Mendocino county practically all her life. She was a woman of splendid character and was beloved by all who knew her, and her passing is mourned by a host of friends as well as the members of her family.

She is survived by her husband, and a daughter and four sons.

The funeral was held Monday morning at St. Mary's church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sprouse, of Portland, were visitors in Ukiah Tuesday. Mr. Sprouse is president of the chain of forty nine cent stores, one of which is established here. The Sprouse home is in Portland.

AMERICAN LEGION GETTING READY FOR ARMISTICE BALL

Fine Orchestra and Big Surprise Feature Arranged for

Plans are rapidly being completed for the celebration of Armistice day on November 11th, the main feature of which is the grand ball to be held in the evening at the grammar school auditorium. Members of the American Legion and their friends are indicating their desire to be in Ukiah on Armistice day to renew old friendships and asociations of the World war and to celebrate the anniversary of America's participation in the conflict.

The social event of the day will be the Armistice ball in the evening where hundreds of couples will gather to enjoy an evening of dancing to music provided by an orchestra secured from the outside for the ball. The committees from the local post of the legion which are making the arrangements for the ball are surrounding their plans with a veil of mystery, but it is reported that the services of an excellent orchestra from San Francisco have been retained. It was also learned that there will be a surprise feature during the evening for the enjoyment of the guests, but the nature of this feature is not to be disclosed until the night of the ball.

Every effort is being made to make this year's ball one of the biggest events of the winter season and from present indications it is expected that there will be a bright and colorful gathering at the ball.

APPLE SHOW PROGRAM TONIGHT IS BY UKIAH

Ukiah chamber of commerce will put on the program tonight, the opening night of Anderson valley apple show. A large delegation of local merchants, chamber of commerce directors and others interested wil attend the apple show this evening and support those who will present the program.

Mayor George Anderson will give a brief address. He will be introduced by Charles Kasch, president of the chamber of commerce. A male quartet, arranged by P. H. Joseph, will give several numbers. A Spanish dance and the Highland fling will be given in costume by Miss Katherine George. The Boy Scouts will put on several feature numbers. Mrs. C. J. Houdesneil, soloist of the evening, will be heard in a group of numbers.

The chamber of commerce has cooperated with the directors of the Anderson valley apple show in plans for the three day celebration. The apple show has been widely advertised and gives promise of being a most successful affair. A large attendance is expected during the three days and preparations have been made to take care of the crowd.

REPRESENTATIVE HERE FOR NEW SAVING PLAN

L. L. Watson, local representative for the Anglo-California Securities Company, arrived in Ukiah this week and has located at the J. R. Mathews home on Standley street. Mr. Watson is presenting a new savings plan to the people of the community. His company is owned by the Anglo-California Trust Co., one of the oldest financial institutons on the Pacific Coast.

Under the plan as explained by Mr. Watson a person paying $8.15 per month for a period of eight years receives a $1,000 certificate. This represents his principal and interest at 6 per cent, compounded annually, for ten years. Other amounts pay in the same proportion. It offers a systematic method of saving at a good interest rate.

Several very liberal features are offered, among them being the right to borrow money on the certificate and the right of temporary default.

Jack Goss was a week end visitor here from San Francisco, renewing old acquaintances.

Fred Figone spent the last week end in San Francisco on business, returning home Sunday evening.

Lou Anker was down from Willits on a short business visit the latter part of last week.

NEW ROAD ON EAST SIDE OPENS UP BIG SECTION

Supervisor Ford Completing First Unit This Week

Supervisor E. M. Ford took us for a ride last Tuesday morning over the new road he is building on the east side of the valley. The road is a fine broad way, as wide as the highway, and a drive over it is very enjoyable as it gives a view of the valley not available heretofore.

The road turns off from the Vichy Springs road where the latter enters the Vichy canyon, thence extending northerly within a half a mile of the Lawrence bridge in Coyote valley. It ends there for the present, but next year Mr. Ford expects to extend it to the Lawrence bridge. When completed, the road will give traffic from Potter valley and Lake county a way to the local depot without going clear to the Forks, thus relieving traffic as well as cutting off the distance to the depot.

A large territory which has been shut off from the rest of the community for many years is thus opened up and more or less subdividing may be reasonably expected to follow.

MRS. BRADEN ANSWERS DEATH'S CALL TUESDAY

Mrs. J. H. Braden, widow of one of Mendocino county's oldest pioneers, passed away at Geyserville, Sonoma county, last Tuesday morning at an early hour. She had reached the advanced age of 87 years, and for some time past had been bedridden.

Mrs. Braden was an oldtime resident of the Laytonville section, having passed nearly her entire life there. Her late husband was engaged in ranching in that section for many years and was at one time justice of the peace of Long valley township.

Twelve children were born to them, of whom four survive, as follows: Mrs. Ollie Mourer, of Redlands; Mrs. Nellie Bidwell, of Haywards; Charles, of Geyserville; and Mrs. Jane Cottrell, formerly of Ukiah, but lately of Geyserville.

The remains were brought to Ukiah and laid to rest in the local cemetery Wednesday.

H. B. Muir of Willits, well known lumberman, was in Ukiah on business Monday.

JUDGE J. M. MANNON DIES AT ST. HELENA

Judge J. M. Mannon passed away at St. Helena last Saturday following an illness of several weeks. He had been failing in health for the past two years and had been taking treatments occasionally at a sanitarium near St. Helena. His death occurred at the institution, where he had been for about three weeks.

The funeral was held last Tuesday afternoon at Masonic Temple, a short service being preached by Rev. Fifer of the Presbyterian church, after which the ceremonies were taken in charge by the Masonic lodge.

Judge Mannon was born in Ohio, April 9, 1847, and first came to California in 1873, settling in San Luis Obispo county. In 1881 he came to Ukiah and began the practise of law here.

He soon became one of the county's foremost citizens and attained a very influential position in legal, banking, political and fraternal circles. He was elected district attorney of the county in 1887 and served one term. He was elected superior judge in 1896 and served a term in that capacity. He also served as mayor of Ukiah, and as secretary of the Mendocino State Hospital. He was one of the founders of the Savings bank of this city, which has grown into one of the strongest institutions of the kind in Mendocino county. In addition, he was legal representative of the Bank of Willits and the First National Bank of Fort Bragg and the allied interests of those institutions. Politically he wielded a power second to none in county politics. His influence was at all times cast along safe, sane and conservative lines and in harmony with the highest ideals of American citizenship. He was one of the county's biggest men and has left an indelible impression on its history.

Fraternally he was a member and past master of Abell lodge, F. & A. M.; past high priest of Ukiah chapter, Royal Arch Masons; past commander of Ukiah commandery, Knights Templars, and a member of Islam Temple of San Francisco. He served three terms on the executive committee of Islam Temple. He was also a member of the Odd Fellows and the Knights of Pythias.

Judge Mannon was married December 8, 1875, at Windsor, Sonoma county, to Martha Clark. The widow and two sons survive, the latter being Atty. Charles M. Mannon, of Ukiah, and Atty. James Milton Mannon, of San Francisco.

ACCEPTS POSITION

Miss Stella Thomas has accepted a position in the grocery department of C. Hofman Co. Miss Thomas is well remembered by the public as assistant at the Reed & Bell root beer station, the first year. Her efficiency and courteous manner was a matter of general comment. She will carry these characteristics in her work with the new firm.

On To Boonville

Anderson Valley has extended an invitation to the rest of us to visit the Apple Show and Fair at Boonville—which offers such a fine opportunity for a big family gathering in this beautiful and fruitful, but less traveled, part of our county.

Surely it will be well worth while to visit Boonville, not only for the pleasure and profit of knowing our neighbors better, but that Anderson Valley folks may have concrete evidence of Ukiah's interest in their welfare and activities.

The Rambler

Have you noticed one thing about this column, that I have never once tried to spend your money for you? I am simply appalled at the number of people who want the privilege of spending my money. Hardly a week passes that I am not urged to make a contribution to someone or for some purpose. If it is not an out-of-town solicitor then it is someone in town. I was asked the other day to buy a ticket to a benefit. When I declined the solicitor gave me a look that made me fear I had committed high treason. And this, too, even though I courteously explained that I had already made a substantial contribution for the identical purpose. If those benefit ticket vendors, those who in one form another want the privilege of spending your money, do not awaken to the fact that they are community nuisances some day someone will have courage enough to tell them so. If they must give benefits, why don't they advertise then and sell their tickets at the box office? Voila!

Ukiah, the hospitable city! I heard many expressions of appreciation by the teachers. To have the good will of a large group of people is worth while. Of course, it is a task to feed and house over six hundred people. But, it was done in such a manner as to give them a desire to come again. And we will be glad to have them come again.

* * * * *

You remember that some men used to hide behind women's skirts. Well, that day is past.

There is a great number of fluent salesmen abroad to assist you in investing your money. Before the war the get-rich-quick promoter and his salesmen operated mostly with stocks. The Liberty Loan campaign turned the attention of the investing public to bonds. And now these same promoters have likewise turned to bonds. A bond without the security back of it is worth no more than stock. If you want to invest some of your savings why not take a few moments to consult your banker? It is hard to save money, but it is mighty easy to lose it. A little care before investing will avoid being swindled.

We cannot expect much economy in the public service until we learn to practice a little private economy. A nation that spends $50,000,000 a year for chewing gum and untold millions for automobiles and luxuries cannot keep the same spirit of spending from the public authorities. The four largest industries of America are steel, railroads, automobiles and movies. Here we have the automobile and the movie, based largely upon our desire for pleasure, two of our four greatest industries.

I wish it were possible for me to bring into every home in this community the absolute necessity of having schools of the highest type. Oh, I know everyone will say they realize it now but do they realize it to such an extent that they will absolutely insist upon it? We want our children to get on in the world and to do so they must be trained, must be educated. As one authority has put it, "our civilization has grown too complex, its machinery too delicate, to permit untrained hands to tamper with it." For the good of the state, it is imperative that there be every opportunity to discover those who are capable of being trained, and then to adequately train them for future service. Educating to a common level is sheer nonsense. A diploma means nothing these days. Employers of today will not accept a diploma as a certificate of proficiency in anything. If our democracy fails, as many predict it will, and as it has in many European countries, the fault will be placed at the doors of our educational institutions.

I don't for a moment insist that the opinions I write here are invariably correct. I am always ready to change my mind. You are entitled to your opinion and you are quite apt to be right in it. And all this leads me to conclude that we should be tolerant of the opinions of others. It is my humble opinion that just now we are living in one of the most intolerant of all ages.

* * * * *

Jack Dempsey is no longer champion. That is well. No one can hope to be champion forever. That is the great lesson of life. Sooner or later we must all relinquish our place. We must all grow old and how foolish, when we refuse to face the facts and try to retain our bubbling youth.

Great misunderstanding is always the result of ignorance. We are ignorant of Russia and therefore are too apt to ignore what she has done for the world. In literature Russia has Pushkin, Turgeneu, Dostoyevsky and Tolstoi. By common consent they are among the greatest writers of all time. In the drama appear again Turgeneu and Tolstoi, as well as Ostrovsky and Chekhov. In mathematics there are Lobachevsky and the famous woman mathematician Sonya Kovalevskaya. Lebedev is a physicist of the first rank. And in music what of Rubinstein and Tschaikowsky? And so I might continue. But this should be sufficient to convince us that the world owes something to Russia.

However much you may daub dross with gilt, it will be dross still. You can never make it gold. Then why try to fool yourself?

"God help the man who is out of tune with his own world and doomed to walk life with closed eyes and stopped ears, wondering at the dullness of his lot on earth."

Today I saw a picture of the depot in the deserted town of Rhyolite, Nevada. It stands as a mute testimony of the glory of this former bustling community of 30,000. The beautiful depot will never be used again; so why couldn't the Northwestern Pacific move it to Ukiah?

* * * * *

Hendrik Van Loon comes to the front in the October Scribner's with this one:

"Honor thy father," says papa with a frown.

"Fiddlesticks!" says little Johnnie. "What have you ever done that I should honor you?"

There are some who simply must have applause to be happy. Waste their fragrance on the desert air? Not they. I met up with a group of such the other night and I was the only one who was audience. Before the evening was over, I was convinced that each believed that a patient and intelligent listener was the noblest work of God. I wonder how much these who contributed to the genuine progress of the world have thought of or cared for applause. The trouble is that most of us are apt to put emphasis on the work of those who are skillful enough to get it. But what of it? Those who applaud today are just as apt to cry "applesauce" tomorrow. Meantime, in the hidden corners of the world the work goes quietly on.

It is three o'clock in the morning. It is unusual for me to be awake at this hour, but for some strange season a train whistling into town awakened me and for some equally strange reason, I cannot get to sleep again. And so I am lying here listening to the noises. There are not many so I can clearly distinguish them. Of course, there is a dog barking. I suppose, either day or night, there never is a time when a dog is not barking. And right near me I hear the incessant croaking of a tree toad. On the street an automobile just passed, the driver blowing his horn noisily. I wonder why he is doing that for he is about the only person abroad. And in a neighbor's tree I hear a little owl. If one did not know it was an owl the sound would be spooky. A rooster has just started to crow, and several others join with him. And now the automobile has gone out of hearing, the toad has ceased croaking and the owl has become quiet. All that I hear is the barking of the dog and the crowing of the roosters. I have counted all the sounds. Three o'clock in the morning no longer interests me and I shall go to sleep.

Answer to the Darcy Report

(By F. W. REYNOLDS)

In "Exhibit E" which is supported by schedules 30 to 37, Mr. Darcy states timber valuations have increased 85 per cent, ranch 136 per cent. From this he makes the following assumption:

"Assuming, for the sake of argument, that property was equally assessed in 1919, then it would follow from the above that the agricultural interests represented are 51 per cent from accomplishing the purpose which was started in 1919. In other words, if the timber companies schedulized were under-assessed in 1919, they are still 51 per cent under-assessed as compared with the interests mentioned."

If his assumption was correct there would have been no request for a 1920 tax committee. All taxpayers of Mendocino county know the work of that committee, that in some cases they raised the valuations 500 per cent, in others they lowered 500 per cent, uniformly raising timber 300 per cent all for the purpose of arriving at an equalized cash value of our county, which by this method was placed at 39 millions of dollars.

He now states that the particular ranches as compared to the particular companies are still 51 per cent to the bad. That conclusion is without foundation unless you know the value of both classes of property. In the first place his assumption is wrong and naturally his conclusion is wrong.

Later in the same section he forms another conclusion: That different classes of property are not equally assessed. For centuries all over the world this has been a mooted question. During the four years as your assessor, deputies and myself have given you our best endeavors to answer this question. I am now formulating a plan that parties owning different classes of property must place their cards on the table. Cruises of timber lands, correct statements of all other property, and that in cases where relative values cannot be satisfactorily established, then a competent advisory committee shall be selceted to assist in that particular subject. Not with any intention that this committee shall ever be the assessors of the county, but for the purpose of gaining the best information that such individuals possess for settling such mooted questions.

I wish to call your attention to a statement of Mr. Darcy's: That values have not materially changed in our neighboring counties since 1920 and for that reason must be more nearly correct than they are in ours. If you will take the time to investigate the election reports from some of our neighbors, you will find that it is not by any means all peace and harmony with them in assessment problems.

We have often heard one county compared to another for assessment purposes. The appraisers by the State Board of Equalization gave the following for 1924, Report page 75: Lowest, Sonoma county, 29 per cent; highest Plumas, 70 per cent; Mendocino, 40 per cent on outside property; 13 counties are under a 40 per cent valuation while 44 are over a 40 per cent assessment. Appraisements are made each year by disinterested men in every county for the State Board and it is worthy of note that the state appraisers varied only a half of one per cent with the assessor of your county. Pretty close! What percentage of valuation is used makes no difference between counties. The only danger lies in the state levying an ad valorem tax on county property for state purposes, then the high counties would be overtaxed. This need for an ad valorem tax is looming larger each year on our horizon and as your assessor I do not propose that we shall be unduly taxed if the state legislature ever reaches that conclusion.

During political years a common statement is always made—that the assessor's work is the cause for our taxes being so high. It is good politics and anyone so inclined can make a peck of trouble for the assessor with only an ounce of applesauce. Judge your assessor only by this criterion: Is the value of my property on the assessment books in the same proportion to its conservative sales value as that of any other class of like value? This proportion is 40 per cent in Mendocino county. If you are equally assessed with your neighbor on that basis, get it out of your head that the assessor is responsible for your troubles. Some advocate a higher or lower percentage of assessed valuation. All right, reduce your percentage on the following example, keeping in mind that you are equally assessed, i. e., everyone so assessed that he is paying his just proportion, and that your expenditures are justified in every particular—Every dollar spent on roads, schools, county general expense, is justified. Then solve this example to your own satisfaction and decide which is the best and what good will be accomplished:

Assessed value based on 40% by Mendocino County Assessor	$26,000,000
Reduce your assessment 20% and you have	$20,800,000
Average tax rate by Board of Supervisors, trustees, city and school	$ 3.66
New rate for same revenue	4.57

If your assumptions are correct then your assessment reduces to

HARVEST BARBECUE CLEVER AND ORIGINAL

The harvest barbecue given at the Frank Cunningham ranch Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cunningham and Dr. and Mrs. Herschel Cleland was an exceedingly clever and original evening from start to finish. It combined an Italian dinner with barbecued meat, a dance, a game of bridge and a general jolly good time.

The ranch home was gaily decorated for the evening. Autumn foliage with masses of bamboo, baskets of flowers, gay colored lanterns made a setting for the festivities. There were cleverly worded signs in every direction instructing and directing the guests.

The party was a farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Orval Tadlock. Dinner was served at one long table on the closed veranda of the home. Every detail of the cleverly decorated table carried out the objective of the party. The cloth of crepe paper was colored with fantom ships of every hue. Trains, ships, small service stations, symbols of travel of many descriptions were used in the table arrangement. The place cards were hand painted sign posts, each carrying a clever and individual direction. The nut baskets were small grips. The dinner menu was elaborate.

Accordion music was provided for the dancing, the musician playing continuously for several hours. Dance music, operatic airs, popular songs and appealing melodies followed one another. During the dinner hour to the accompaniment of the accordion, Fred Thomas sang, following the musician in one song after another.

After dinner the guests danced and dancing was followed by bridge. Each table cover depicted some comic travel scene. The work was hand painting on heavy brown paper, and the effect not only exceedingly clever but most interesting and effective. Each table carried a clever inscription with the drawing. The end table was a drawing in colors of the Tadlock home and garden with "Home Sweet Home" inscribed. All details carried out the travel idea. Table directions were "station" and "gate" instead of "table" and "couple." Mrs. Frank Barker and Louis Hofman won handsome prizes in the game.

A climax of the fun was reached when an old trunk and valise were brought in on a wheel-barrow. These contained josh gifts for the travellers. The carefully wrapped bundles were opened, worn or displayed by the recipients, occasioning the greatest fun.

It would be difficult to surpass the cleverness and originality, the perfect detail and the charming compliment of this party. Two score guests were entertained.

Reverence and Obedience Subject of Dr. M. Bertola

Dr. Mariana Bertola, state president of the California Federation of Women's clubs was the chief speaker at the county convention of women's clubs in Ukiah Saturday.

Dr. Bertola devoted the greater part of the time to the work of the state federation. In closing she spoke for ten minutes on the adolescent period.

The best safeguard to the adolescent period, she stated, is obedience in the home from the day of birth. The boys and girls who make the best citizens are those who are taught to obey in the home. According to the speaker the reason America is having such a terrible time with law enforcement is that this people have not learned obedience. Bending, training and pruning, she said, must take place in childhood. Respect for law must be taught and this teaching will react in making the child respect himself.

One thing that is being neglected in the American home is the teaching of reverence for an Almighty God. It isn't the minister, or the edifice or the day that should impel church attendance, according to Dr. Bertola, but reverence for an Almighty Power. The spirit of reverence should begin when the child is little. If paents have not this reverence within themselves they cannot teach it to their children.

Dr. Bertola arrived on the noon train Saturday, addressed the convention and departed on the afternoon train. On arriving in Ukiah the state president was met by the boy scouts in company parade. The greeting deeply impressed the president.

Both speakers urged the formation of a federation to include all the clubs above mentioned. Whenever three or more clubs are organized in a county it is considered expedient by the P. T. A. leaders to form a federation. No definite action was taken at Wednesday's meeting.

F. D. Patton, principal of the school, asked that the mothers provide a trophy to be given to the winning team in the contests with Hopland, Willits and Redwood valley.

Miss Catherine Fuller, city nurse, asked for a small fund to be judiciously used in connection with physical education classes in the school. This class is not compulsory but is being given under the direction of Miss Una Raffety.

To Organize Campfire Girls

Miss Catherine Fuller, city nurse, Miss Grace Toles, and Miss Marguerite Magill, instructor in physical education in the local high school, called a meeting last evening in Saturday Afternoon club rooms to launch the work preparatory to the organization of Camp Fire Girls. A series of six meetings is being arranged for the women who are interested in being guardians. The leaders urge mothers to attend these meetings that they may gain an understanding of what is to be done in the Camp Fire work. Misses Fuller, Toles and Magill will be general directors of the work and will organize the groups and leaders and instruct them in the work.

Miss Magill has been in Camp Fire work before coming to Ukiah. Miss Fuller and Miss Toles took a special course in this work at the last summer session of the University of California.

Dist. Federation President Speaks of Moral Issues

A strong appeal against the repeal of the Wright Act and against legalizing gambling at races was made to the club women of the county by Mrs. W. L. Sales, district president. Mrs. Sales spoke at the morning session of Mendocino County federation of women's clubs held last Saturday in Ukiah.

Mrs. Sales stated that all state and national departments of federated women had repeatedly declared allegiance to the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead Act. The repeal of the Wright Act in this state will not alter the eighteenth amendment. In the opinion of the speaker California simply says "we will not support the constitution of the United States." The passing of the amendment will simply make bootlegging easier in Mrs. Sales' opinion. It will withdraw the support of the state officers and leave it entirely to federal officers.

Legalizing gambling at races Mrs. Sales proclaimed a very, very vicious measure. Vicious, she said, because if gambling is legalized conditions now prevailing in Tia Juana will prevail all over California. Tia Juana is now regarded as the abiding place for the scum of the earth. That scum will spread over California if gambling is legalized.

Among the 28 amendments to be voted upon in November there are three moral measures, Mrs. Sales said. There are the two named above and a third on reading the Bible in the schools. The speaker asked the club women to "think without confusion clearly" on these three amendments; to stress their thought on these amendments. She said that the men of this country upholding the laws in question were depending on the women to put over the vote. She quoted a senator from West Virginia as saying that if women did not bring moral force and advancement into politics where would it come from? If women do not support these forces, he said, the country is lost.

The question of reading the Bible in the schools was passed with little comment. Mrs. Sales said that people who believe that the Bible is the word of Life have still a big question in their minds as to the advisability of putting it into the public schools.

Mrs. Sales appealed to the women to fit themselves as efficiently and conscientiously as possible. Voting, she said, has become a duty and no good clubwoman will ever shirk her duty.

Saturday was the fifth consecutive Mendocino county clubwomen's convention at which Mrs. Sales has spoken.

Club Notes

CONVENTION ATTENDANCE WAS A DISGRACE

The Mendocino County Federation of Women's Clubs convention held in Ukiah last Saturday was not well attended by club women of the county or towns women in general. This fact was a matter of comment by the state president, Dr. Mariana Bertola, in addressing the women.

Dr. Bertola quoted Mary Sherman's remark to club women: "Service is the rent you pay for the space you occupy" and Mrs. Sherman added, "Some of you occupy a great deal more space than you pay for." The speaker asked why it was when she spoke in southern California she was greeted by audiences from one to five thousand. When she speaks in the northern counties she is greeted by empty chairs. Her gesture called attention to the empty chairs. Standing together for the good of the community, loyalty to one another she analyzed as the strength of southern club women.

The program presented at the federation was excellent. It was above the average, carefully planned and carried off with dispatch.

Dr. Mariana Bertola is one of the busiest women in this state. She carries a large personal medical practice; she is active in public work and politics; she personally directs with vigor and ability the complicated and far reaching affairs of the state federation of women's clubs. Yet she took the time to make that tiresome trip from San Francisco to speak to the women of this county. So limited was her time that she returned the same day, travelling or speaking fourteen straight hours to accommodate the women of Mendocino county. She spoke to a handful of "queens." About one third of the middle section of the auditorium was occupied.

Dr. Mariana Bertola can command an audience any where in the world and she knows it. She is an appealing speaker, a clever and able woman, one thoroughly versed in club affairs. She is besides one of the few presidents who also fills a place of prominence in the business world.

It is a staggering fact that in a community where so few speakers are heard; in a community shut off to a great degree from active touch with outside affairs, women like Dr. Bertola and Mrs. W. L. Sales, leaders in club work in this state, should receive such a meager reception as that which greeted them last Saturday. It is a plain disgrace.

DELEGATES AND CLUB REPORTS AT CONVENTION

There were 26 delegates, four county officers, seven county chairmen, four presidents and two district officers present at the county convention held Saturday in Ukiah.

Club presidents reporting on the work of the clubs were Sorosis club, Fort Bragg; Fort Bragg Professional and Business Women's clubs; Mendocino Study club; Greenwood City club; Saturday Afternoon club and Kosmos club.

The report of the Greenwood City club was particularly alive and interesting. The club had added 125 books to the city library in the past nine months; had donated $300 to playground equipment; $100 to the boys' baseball team; supported Junior Auxiliary and Boys' club; studied the history of Greenwood and Mendocino county in the club.

CATTLEMEN TO MEET AT WILLITS ON OCTOBER 15

Full Report of Activities and Financial Status of State Organization Subject

Cattlemen of Mendocino county will have the opportunity of hearing a discussion on prospective market conditions and prices for next season at a meeting to be held at Willits on Friday, October 15, at 2 p. m.

This meeting is the regular fall meeting of local cattlemen with officers of The California Cattlemen's Association and a full report on activities and the financial status of the marketing organization will be included in the program.

Because of its extensive operations and sources of information on markets and cattle supplies, the Association is able to extend to cattlemen a service never before available, and all growers should be interested in the matters to be discussed on October 15.

The stabilizing effect of the Association during the last two seasons and its increasing control of cattle makes a discussion of its plan of operations for next season very valuable, and every cattleman in Mendocino county should make a special effort to attend the meeting at Willits.

IN HIGHER BRANCHES

FOURTH of July was supposed to be a holiday in a certain garrison of the regular army out West, but a grizzled old sergeant named Kelly, in charge of the guard house, had his own ideas about this holiday notion. After breakfast he ordered all his prisoners to line up outside their prison quarters. When they fell in he stationed himself facing them, and made a short speech:

"There is no doubt in me own mind," he said, "but that a good many of you men should not be prisoners at all. You've neglected your opportunities, that's all. Some here has had educations and should make good company clerks. Maybe there's some others amongst you who'd like to be company barbers and earn a little money on the side."

A murmur of assent ran through the lines.

"Now, thin," went on Sergeant Kelly, "all you men who are educated or who think ye cud learn to do paper work, step two paces to the front.

About half of the prisoners came forward.

"Now, thin, all who'd like to learn the barberin' business advance two paces."

All save two moved toward him with alacrity.

The sergeant addressed the remaining pair:

"What did the two of you do before your joined the army?" he asked.

"We was laborin' men," answered one, speaking for both.

"Very well, thin all you educated guys take these here gunnysacks and pick up every scrap of paper around the parade grounds. And the rest of you, who want to learn barberin', you grab these here lawn mowers and cut grass until I tell you to leave off. You two laborin' men kin go back inside the tent and take a nap."

Vigilant Watch Kept on Priceless Books

Lining the walls of the reading-room and three large galleries in the British museum, in London, are millions of books. Some are the only existing copies, and many are priceless.

Every possible precaution is taken to guard these treasures. The books are kept in strongly locked cases, from which they are never removed except by officials of the reading-room.

No one may enter this room without a reader's ticket, and a reader cannot obtain a book without first filling up and signing an official form.

Unless it is a book of unusual value, the reader may examine it in the ordinary reading-room. but if it is a very rare volume he is escorted into a special inner room, from which escape, other than by the authorized exit, would be impossible.

In both rooms, men in plain clothes, indistinguishable from the hundreds of readers, walk up and down, and contrive to keep within arm's reach of anyone who is perusing a special treasure. At the first movement to destroy or mutilate a volume, the vandal would be seized.

When the Skies Fall

By MARTHA M. WILLIAMS

(Copyright.)

"LORD! LORD!" Priscilla May burst out. "Why don't something happen? I feel like I'd been dead a week—and had no hope of any resurrection."

"How d'ye know, Prissy? Canst recall former existences and passings?" Sister Helen mocked—her mission was breaking Prissy's moods.

"Tell you that after I'm revivified—as you never will be," Prissy chaffed. She was tall and twenty, rich, a beauty, and very, very badly spoiled. Inevitably, with nothing masculine nearer than second cousin to offset a phalanx of adoring aunts, a brace of grandmothers to both of whom she summed perfection, to say nothing of swarming beaux.

She didn't dream it, but it was her great charm that halted a happiness she had a sultry thirst to grasp. George Lee-Vernon would have loved her for the looking at her, if he had let himself. Rather he was held from doing it by the scar upon his heart. An old story now—it ought never to throb and sting him. But it did—and it was there in token that another woman with the same charm had earlier won him—and played him false. Since then his chief concern had been not to forget her, but to armor himself against all such attacks. He would marry, of course—after awhile. There must be Lee Vernons to follow him—but they should be scientifically bred, carefully born and trained. Their mother a lady—that went without saying—handsome, healthy, with neither too much nor too little brain. Helen was, to speak truth, much nearer the specification he had set forth—yet to him was merely an adjunct of Priscilla. D—n the luck that had brought him home for the quail shooting first time in five years, to find the sisters resting at little old Maywold, the original family seat, from the wear and tear of a hectic social year. He had known them at second hand and long—this was his first encounter in the flesh. Brief but romantic—he had all but run them down defying speed limits at the edge of dusk. Safety for them had meant a wrecked car, a potential fatality. Helen had screamed, all but fainted—it was Priscilla who had sworn at him, a good mouth-filling oath ordering him out of sight with a stamp of the foot, and eyes that shot sparks. Yet when he made due apologies next day, she had smiled at him indulgently, saying with a shrug: "You got heap the worst of it—but we shan't insult you offering you a new car." Which might have eased the tense situation if Helen had not pleaded plaintively: "Please forget? Have pity on weary pilgrims seeking real rest."

Muttering a pledge, bowing as became his name, he had gone away. He'd tried to obey—but somehow vagrant eyes had more than once feasted upon Priscilla's face—and read there that she was deadly sick of solitude. Being no hermit, he got quickly, through kindly gossip, the low-down on the sisters—they had run away from worrying elders to Maywold, for a freedom cure—self-appointed. Sent on big dogs and saddle stock ahead, fetched along Tobe and his wife Maria, as faithful as they were black.

When at last by Fate's decree, he got sight of them, it was to find the half had not been told him. Sight came to pass upon the third day of shooting—in this wise—else it might never have come at all. Maywold was open ground—anyone who would might shoot there. Besides, the untilled land overgrown with thickets, briars and sedge, provided the best of cover which upon a mild October morning was vocal with calling Bob Whites. Lee-Vernon would have stopped ears to the calling—there was no stopping the dogs, nor the other men. For an hour the blurry boom of shotguns filled all the sunlit world—sport often dreamed of, rarely met with, made the sportsmen careless of everything else. Of the orchard just beyond, the shallow rainpool whence their dogs lapped thirstily, the crashing surge through an overgrown hedge of sleek sinuous bodies—an airedale, a mastiff, a greyhound, which fell upon the other dogs with sportive barks, overset them, tumbled them about, pretending to growl. Bemis, a visitor, loved his dog, a champion, a bit better than himself—instantly he fired both barrels above the squirming mass, crying wildly: "Stop that! Stop, I say!"

"Stop something yourself," a gay voice cried, just as a ripe red apple took him full between the eyes. The rest looking up saw Priscilla, bareheaded, flushed and laughing perched perilously in an apple crotch, and clinging with one hand to a slender high bough. She nodded to Lee-Vernon, saying: "Introduce your friends. Helen's so sick of seeing only me you'll look like manna from heaven. See her smiling—over in that tree yonder—follow her to the house—you're thirsty I know—and we've cider to tap."

"You're coming, too," Lee-Vernon interrupted.

She smiled saucily: "I have to swing down," she said. "Can't do that before an audience." Fate said she could—for as she spoke the tall bough, bent, broke—held her up a bare second—but that sufficed to land her in Lee-Vernon's safe hold, where, he said in her ear: "When the skies fall we catch larks."

GYPSY CAR IN COLLISION

An automobile driven by a gypsy woman, one of a caravan of five cars which passed through Ukiah, collided with a closed car driven by Mrs. Helen Crane of Eureka last Saturday. The collision occurred about nine miles south of Hopland. The gypsy woman after the collision backed away, then, becoming confused, drove her car again into the Crane car, damaging it quite badly. Mrs. Zane, who was in the Crane car, was thrown against a pile of luggage by the force of the collision and sustained a strain to her knee.

Several of the gypsies who were in the other car are also said to have been hurt.

Back of this Service

In the public utility business it is necessary to raise new capital for additional plant facilities.

Power plants, gas works are not built from earnings—that is, from money paid for service rendered.

New money must be obtained through the sale of securities such as stocks and bonds. Having a good credit rating has had much to do with the success of this Company in the sale of securities.

The Company initiated the customer ownership plan and was the first in the United States to put it into practice.

Supervisor Rupe Inspects Bridges

Last Saturday Supervisor J. M. Rupe, H. J. Hoff and Sam Orr inspected most of the county bridges in the Round valley section. The Dos Rios bridge will have some more repair work done on it this year. The bridge across the North Fork of Eel river will have to have a new super-structure that will cost about $1,200. H. J. Hoff has been hired to do the work.

Woman Badly Scalded

Dr. Babcock was called to Kekawaka last week to dress the wounds of Mrs. Lee O'Ferrall who was very badly scalded. While handling a teakettle it splashed over and scaled the entire length of both of her limbs, causing all of the skin to peel off. She has painful and serious injuries and will be laid up for some time.

Suffers Cut

Mrs. John Quarteroni fell and cut the tendons of her right hand a few days ago. She nearly bled to death before Dr. Babcock arrived and stopped the flow of blood. She has a very bad hand and will be laid up for some time.

Hard Luck for Canadians

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Greene left here a short time ago for a short visit to their old home in British Columbia. When they started back they were stopped at the U. S. border by the immigration officers and told that they would have to remain in Canada until the next year's quota of immigrants were allowed to enter this country. Both Mr. and Mrs. Greene are natives of Great Britain and when they came here two years ago they only had a six months' permit to remain here. Had they taken out citizenship papers while here they could have returned. A sister of Mrs. Greene arrived here last week from Canada and disposed of their personal property.

Mrs. Greene was employed at the Redwood Highway Bakery and Mr. Greene by the railroad.

Start - stride - finish!

No sprinter ever shattered a record without perfect coordination of: correct start; rythmic, powerful stride; dashing, flashing finish! This is the "form" that makes champions of the cinder path.

And it is the secret of gasoline championship also—the form that gives "more miles to the gallon"—a properly proportioned combination of: quick start, anywhere, anytime; a full stride of power always sustained.

You can depend upon Associated for just this kind of a performance, due to its scientifically correct "chain" or series of boiling points. Associated is always associated with "more miles to the gallon."

Governor Friend W. Richardson says the most humorous comment on the recent primaries comes from the pen of J. R. Gould who runs a small weekly at Strathmore in Tulare county. The governor laughed heartily after reading and handing it to the press:

"A gink came in here yesterday and told me how it happened. He said Richardson wouldn't build the Boulder dam so Los Angeles voted against him. That Young was going to bring—maybe send, no bring—the Sacramento river water to this valley so the San Joaquin valley voted for him. That Richardson ruined the schools, and Young is dry. He said Richardson needed a haircut and Young is pretty and the women all voted for him. That is as far as he got with his information—then we killed him and tenderly laid the remains away in the alley back of the lumber yard."

MARKET REPORT

Review of livestock market for week ending Tuesday, October 5, 1926:

CATTLE: Unloads 3,900. California 82 cars, Oregon 25, Nevada 35 and packer directs around 800. All interests seemingly were active buyers and with general light supplies of good grade steers within the market area these grades advanced 25c when compared to a week ago. A five load string good dehorned fed weighty Californias cost $8.50. Another string of around 15 cars of steers averaging 985-1050 lbs. cost $8.40-$8.50, practically all dehorned and being suitable to the retailers carcass demands. Numerous strings of 1050-1100 lb. Oregons and Nevada steers cost $8.35-$8.50 and late advices from country points mention asking values upwards to $7.75-$8.00. However, traders on the local market at present do not seem to be able to meet these figures. Medium grade steers make up a considerable portion of supplies and sizeable strings of these moved around $7.75-$8.15, including a nine load string from the South Coast area. Packers had a few Nevada grass steers. Steers comprised major portion of run and good grades were enquired for. Good heifers met the next readiest sale, a few loads scoring $7.00, but bulk medium to near-good varieties scored $6.50-$6.75 with medium horned at $6.25. Good dehorned weighty smooth fat cows moved upwards to $6.50, eight cars 925 lb. dehorned Utahs moving at $6.25-$6.35 and ten loads of medium 1000 lb. Nevadas at $5.25-$5.50 with common Californias around $4.75. Cutters, low cutters, bulls firm, all interests scouring the country. Four cars low cutters $3.75-$4.25. A car of good bulls scored $5.50, part loads $5.25-$5.35 and odd head tied in other cars $5.00-$5.25 with medium butcher bulls $4.50-$5.00. Car choice 738 lb. "baby beeves" $13.00.

CALVES: Unloads 850. Choice 160-200 lb. veals scarce, quotable $10.50, none noted. A variety of calves were among those unloaded being represented by Arizona, New Mexico and California. Good 225-250 lb. calves moved $9.50-$10.00 with 223 lb. Southwesterns $9.50-$10.00. Part loads 275-325 lb. calves scored $8.50-$9.00 and weighty calves were weak at $8.00.

HOGS: Unloads 4,500, light supply, active demand, choice 180-225 lb. Eastern butchers upwards to $16.00. Most 125-200 lb. grain fed Californias $15.25, few loads selected upwards to $15.90. All 200-250 lb. butchers $15.00 and nearby trucked in supplies $14.50.

SHEEP: Lambs barely steady, current values equal to Middle Western markets, spots 50c lower. Oregon, Utah, Nevada and California lambs noted, choice 66-71 lb. Utahs in the bloom $13.25-$13.50, good 71-73 lb. lambs $13.00, all wooled. Shorn stock 73-77 lb. Californias $12.25-$12.75, weighty 83-87 lb. Island $12.00-$12.50. Good yearlings $9.00-$9.50, choice fed stock might score $10.00. Good shorn 110-120 lb. ewes $6.50, 120-130 lbs. $6.25 and 130-150 lbs. $6.00. Unloads past few days of 73 cars Utahs, largest of curent season, month of September 51,000; about 15 cars from local and Stockton feed lot sortings.

JACK THORNTON MAKES RECORD AS MANAGER

Jack Thornton, proprietor of the Pickwick Lunch place, made a record for himself last week in connection with the benefit dance put on by the K. P. social committee in behalf of the sufferers from the Florida disaster.

Jack was the head of the affair and it was carried off in very enjoyable style. Everyone attending had a fine time and everything went along swimmingly.

Jack has shown that he knows how and all hope that he will head another committee to give another dance soon.

REPORTS ENCOURAGEMENT

Mr. Ed Wright reports that he is meeting with much encouragement from all parts of the county, relative to his candidacy for county assessor, on his "write-in" campaign. The statutes of this State specifically provide for such a campaign, and give the voter the right freely to express his preference by providing blank spaces wherein he may write the name of the candidate of his choice. Mr. William Kent was elected to Congress from this district by a "write-in" campaign. — Advertisement.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Hansen and daughter returned last Saturday evening to their home in this city. Dr. Hansen is able to walk with the assistance of crutches. His injured leg is in a plaster cast, and is mending as well as could be expected.

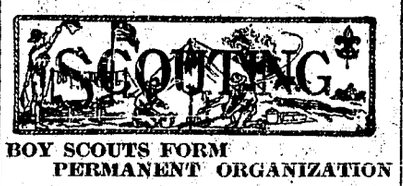
"DOUG'S" NEW TREAT

Douglas Fairbanks is again the cinema pioneer. In this instance he is exploring the realm of color photography, and it is said that "The Black Pirate," the screen production he is now releasing is easily another outstanding novelty.

It was made after five months of preliminary scientific research. In addition to its actual color, it glows with the color of romance and adventure, of heaving ships and rolling seas, pieces-of-eight and plank-walking pirates. It will quicken the pulse of everyone who has read and dreamed of the days of piracy. The Technicolor process by which this film is being made stands as another triumph for American ingenuity. "The Black Pirate" comes to the State theatre next Thursday.



BOY SCOUTS FORM PERMANENT ORGANIZATION

On Wednesday evening a group of citizens held a meeting in the directors' room of the Savings bank for the purpose of perfecting the Boy Scouts organization in this community.

The plan is to have a committee of representative business and professional men to be known as District Committee, Boy Scouts of America. This committee will be affiliated with and a part of the Redwood Council of Eureka, which has the Scout jurisdiction over this county, Humboldt and Del Norte counties.

This committee meeting was called by C. A. Bernhard, who was appointed district chairman last year by Tom Hine of Eureka, who is president of the Redwood Council, and Joe Wilson, who is district commissioner for this county. During last year a temporary committee had been appointed and did some good work. They were instrumental in getting two new troops started in Ukiah,—one with the Redmen and one with the American Legion. They also raised something over $400 to finance the Boy Scout activities for 1926.

After considerable discussion and the full realization that Scouting is growing and getting started in this community on a sound basis and that we are being looked up to as a community who handles such matters with a high degree of efficiency, it was decided by the meeting to form a larger and completely reorganized committee.

Those present were Wm. Bromley, Joe Wilson, Louis Hofman, Dr. L. K. Van Allen, Dr. Donald Smith, Roy C. York, Joe Figone, C. A. Bernhard.

Dr. Donald Smith was elected chairman for the coming year, C. A. Bernhard vice-chairman, Joe Wilson secretary, Wm. Bromley treasurer.

Committees were appointed as follows: Court of Honor, Judge H. L. Preston, chairman; Finance, Wm. Bromley; Publicity, Louis Hofman; Civic Service, C. A. Bernhard; Troop Extension, Orval Tadlock; Transportation, J. C. Johnson; Leadership and Training, Chas. M. Fulkerson; Camping, E. L. Williams, Hopland, chairman; Rallies and Extension, Roy C. York, chairman.

These committees are to be filled out to full strength later by the chairman, Dr. Smith. The finance committee was completed at the meeting and is composed of Wm. Bromley, Louis Hofman and Roy C. York, with authority to call on everybody in town for help.

The big Camporee which has been under consideration for some months past, was started off with full steam. The date is set for October 23 and 24. It is to be held in Ukiah. It is expected that about 100 outside scouts will be here and about 25 scoutmasters and executives. Details of this meeting will be announced later. Plans were made for financing the Camporee at once.

The committee decided to meet the second Saturday of every month and to be on time and give the work their very best effort. They also decided to fine each member $1.00 for being late to the meeting and $2.00 for being absent unless sick or out of town.

This district committee will be headquarters for all matters pertaining to Scouting in this community. Any information desired or any advice to be given, or any complaints to be made should be sent to Joseph Wilson, Ukiah, secretary.

"1866"

All men in and around Ukiah born in 1866 are asked to communicate with Frank Sandelin, Lafe Van Dusen, Will Ornbaun or O. F. Graf. For there will be a bulls head dinner pulled off for the men of 1866 at the Chapinge club house at the Joe Cox ranch on Sunday, October 17, at 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon. Mark Gibson is to be the chef. Get into communication at once with one of the above men if you were born in 1866.

They left Calistoga some time ago for San Mateo, where Mr. Thornton has been engaged in contracting and building and where they are doing well. Their many friends are glad to see them once more.

GREAT BUFFALO HUNT

Dramatic Episode in Picture "The Last Frontier"

A buffalo hunt in which some 3000 of the animals from the government preserves, and 1500 Indians take part, is a big feature of "The Last Frontier," an epical western Metropolitan picture which closes at the State theatre tonight.

"The Last Frontier" is an epic story of the great west that gave birth to such men as Buffalo Bill, Wild Bill Hickock, General Custer, Kit Carson, and Pawnee Killer.

William Boyd as Tom Kirby, Marguerite De La Motte as Beth, Jack Hoxie as Buffalo Bill and J. Farrell Macdonald as Wild Bill, play the leading roles in the film. Gladys Brockwell, Frank Lackteen and Junior Coghlan appear in supporting roles.

IDEAL SCREEN TEAM

An ideal screen "team" is to be seen in "Senor Daredevil," which will be shown Saturday at the State theatre. It is made up of Ken Maynard and Dorothy Devore, who are co-stared in this fast moving story of the west beyond the range, where the ranches and Painted Desert stretches into a grand adventure. Maynard is the ideal type of Western hero and a "ridin' Romeo" if there ever was one, while Miss Devore has not only beauty and appeal, but a flair for comedy that perfectly balances Maynard's highly dramatic work.

GENE STRATTON-PORTER'S GREATEST NOVEL ON SCREEN

Overflowing with all the broad understanding and deep sympathy that marks Gene Stratton-Porter's greatest novel, F. B. O.'s great production of "Laddie," begins its local showing at the State theatre Sunday. It is truly a marvelous picture. Marvelous in its remarkable fidelity to the book, in its vivid reproduction of the atmosphere of the Middle West, in its happy characterizations, and guided by the directorial genius of J. Leo Meehan, the famous novelist's son-in-law, who produced "The Keeper of the Bees," the film is unquestionably a superb piece of work. With two of the best-known celebrities of filmdom in the leading roles, Bess Flowers as Pamela Pryor and John Bowers as Laddie, and supported by an excellent cast, the picture is bound to be one of the outstanding photoplays of the year.

BULLET STRUTS HIS DOG STUFF WITH MALONEY

When you see Leo Maloney in his first Pathe feature, "The High Hand," at the State theatre Monday, you will again meet with Bullet, Maloney's famous dog, for Bullet plays a big part in "The High Hand." Just what kind of a dog Bullet is makes no difference. He is probably a cross between a fighting pit bull and some sort of dog that loves to act, for Bullet is a natural born grabber of the camera's highest spot.

ROMANCE RUNS WILD RIOT IN "THE LOVE THIEF"

All the drama and romance that exists in the courts of Europe has been cleverly captured by John McDermott and put into his most successful picture, "The Love Thief," which opens at the State theatre Tuesday.

In the leading roles are Norman Kerry and Greta Nissen. Kerry has always been famous as a portrayer of colorful and preferably uniformed roles. Here he is again given a chance to look as handsome as any human being could. And he comes out with flying colors.

In the cast of "The Love Thief" are Marc MacDermott, Cissy Fitzgerald, Oscar Beregi, Augustino Borgato, Carrie Daumery, Nigel Barrie, Clarence Thompson, Charles Puffy, Alphonse Martel and Lido Manetti.

'EARLY TO WED" IS FOX FILMS' LATEST COMEDY

Kathryn Perry and Matt Moore are co-starred in "Early to Wed," the unusual matrimonial comedy produced by Fox Films coming to the State theatre Wednesday.

Again this delightful team are the newlyweds and once again they manage to get themselves involved in a series of situations that are pathetic as well as exceedingly humorous. This time they live beyond their means to impress their neighbors and the possible clients of the young husband, with almost disastrous results. Others in the cast are Albert Gran, Julia Swayne Gordon, Rodney Hildebrand, Ross McCutcheon, Arthur Houseman, Belva McKay, and Zasu Pitts.
